

the pursuit of happiness is eternally in the hands of the people at this moment. however things like advertising (aka buy this shit and look at the slimy) and adversarial proprietary gatekeeper police like google and adversarial political people who are used to shield and the certainties that act as e-celebs (more like g-celebs) to have shields set the rules of thought. it is crucial that you understand that the metaphor of the building is not standing in the technological level of the physical fields sirius memeica 13. ferremanory must become open source as to allow the adversarial establishments themselves in a froked dark order that is recognized as open source and not clandestine. that way we do not see john podesta writing little notes on his hand and doing so off the backs of a lot of good men that bust their ass to make sure each other feel comfortable in their fucked lives. that way you can have your little ocd larp cult and truly fucked crawl on your knees and have over a cinder block or whatever the hell you do. you can finally stop practicing when you hear the noise of the smoke machine. the boogymen will not be allowed to come out of the mist he is in a pitchforked open source in plain sight dark order that is liber. you gotta use this momentum of the technica not to filter what the masses think and to always see a token of manory but to allow the untable orders no longer propped up by the white hat manos.

